WOMAN KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN ENGINE

Mrs. Gertrude High Second
Pedestrian Accident
Victim in Week.

A fatal train-pedestrian accident in Marion within a week occurred when Mrs. Gertrude High, 62, of 213 Park avenue, was struck by a northbound freight train just west of the West Center street crossing yesterday at 3:57 p.m. She was killed almost instantly.

According to reports of witnesses, she was walking too close to the tracks. She was on her way to the Union Depot Hotel restaurant, where she was employed and was to go on duty at 4 o'clock.

Apparently she was struck by the right front cylinder of the freight engine. The accident occurred approximately 126 feet west of the crossing. The body was thrown about 35 feet and she suffered a broken neck, skull fracture and broken left shoulder.

She was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Dr.

Richard L. Morgan, county coroner.

The body was removed by Mr. H. Gundersen and Sons ambulance.

The train crew was made up entirely of Columbus men. The engineer, C. E. Martin is credited with 50 years of railroad service.

Last Friday Mrs. Lena Klehm,

53, of Oak street walked into the path of a westbound Erie passenger train at the North Prospect street crossing while she was watching a troop train pass.

Rites Friday

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the M. H. Gundersen & Sons funeral home on West Center street with Rev. D. N. Kelly, pastor of West Methodist church officiating. ## BADOGLIO SEEKING POLITICAL PEACE

By The Associated Press
NAPLES, April 19.—Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio will come from the seat of government to confer tomorrow with leaders of the six Italian political parties, it was announced today, amid indications that the hitherto rebellious junta would accept his proposed composition of a coalition of government.

The marshal has encountered considerable opposition from party leaders over personnel of the new cabinet, and there was widespread pessimism last night on his chances of breaking the political stalemate, but politicians expressed belief today the joint conference would clear the atmosphere.

While signs pointed to acceptance of the Marshal's stand, it was clear some of its more ardent supporters would agree reluctantly. They said the plan in life gives five ministries to what they call the "Badoglio group" which they regard as "tied with fascism."

Need $996 Yet To Hit Red Cross War Goal

Only $866.73 to go.

That was the report from Red Cross war fund drive headquarters today as new donations yesterday pushed the total up to $3,003.27.

However, it will take quite a number of $1, $3, $5 and $10 gifts to raise that amount, so Chairman D. Torrance again appealed for volunteer gifts from any person who feels he is financially able to make a second gift to the war fund.

"We're getting near the goal—let's see if we can put it over in the next day or two," he urged in closing the new appeal.

PICK WARREN AS KEYNOTER

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, April 19.—The Republican arrangement committee today selected Gov. Earl Warren of California as the temporary chairman and keynoter for the party's June 26 nominating convention.

National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler announced the selection of Warren was unanimous with the 24-member committee. Spangler said the group also would recommend to the convention the election of House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts as the permanent chairman.

The choice of Warren for the keynoter post was engineered by party leaders, including Spangler and Walter Hallinan of West Virginia, the chairman of the arrangements committee.

Spangler told reporters that the selection of the 53-year-old California governor as the kick-off speaker for the convention was made after several members had told the committee Warren was not a candidate for national office.

Although Warren has been considered as a possibility for the vice presidential nomination, Spangler said William Reichel, California member, pointed out that Warren repeatedly had said he was not a candidate. However, he has the "favorite son" support of California's 50 delegates in the presidential race.

Warren's selection came after the committee had received other nominations for the place.

These included Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, former Gov. Walter Edge of New Jersey, Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Gov. Schoeppe of Kansas, Gov. Martin of Pennsylvania, Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois and three senators, Wherry of Nebraska, Revercomb of West Virginia and Bushfield of South Dakota.

The name of Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, also was considered.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the twelfth nominee considered, had been the choice of the leaders until they discovered he might not be named as a delegate to the national convention.

At that time they made the quick switch to Warren which brought about his selection.

FATE OF ROME PUT IN GERMANS' HANDS

By The Associated Press
LONDON, April 19.—Repaying a pica from Eamon De Valera that Rome be spared, President Roosevelt has told the European minister that the city's fate rests with Germany, while the Germans again have sought unilaterally to declare Rome an open city.

President Roosevelt's message, dated April 3, was made public in Dublin today.

"If German forces were not entrenched in Rome no question would arise concerning the city's preservation," the President said.

The German reply was broad.

Public Invited To Visit New Youth Recreational Center at Y. M. C. A.

By BOB BYRD

The new Club Co-Ed recreational center in the Y. M. C. A., a project in which scores of Marion residents have interested themselves in the last few months, will make its formal public debut tomorrow night.

Club Co-Ed, the name of the new center and also of the high school student organization that will operate it, and the Y's Men's Service club which made the facilities available to the students with the help of a number of Marion donors, are inviting the public to come in tomorrow night to see what has been done.

Visitors will see two large rooms transformed into colorful, gay surroundings and consisting primarily of a large dance floor equipped with its own automatic record player and amplifier, and another room which has been converted into a modern soda fountain, complete with booths and tables.

The facilities are attractive and the activities to be carried on there will be under adult supervision. If the project functions as intended, the rooms will become the social center for the bulk of Marion's senior high school students.

The project isn't exactly aimed at erasing juvenile delinquency, for Club Co-Ed is a social organization and has one purpose—to promote wholesome recreational activities for its members. However, the club is expected to have a definite influence against juvenile delinquency by the very fact that it will provide a center for supervised recreation that less wholesome night spots will be passed.

A bright touch is the bandstand, large enough to accommodate a 10-piece orchestra. It is raised a few inches off the floor, has lattice

MARION WOMAN'S HUSBAND KILLED

Capt. R. L. Ferguson Loses Life in Action.

Mrs. Jean A. Ferguson of 837 South Prospect street has been informed by the war department that her husband, Capt. Robert L. Ferguson, was killed in action in England on April 5.

Capt. Ferguson, 28, was operations officer and acting squadron commander of a Thunderbolt fighter-bomber unit based in England. He had participated as a pilot in 15 missions over France and Germany, and although details are lacking, it was learned that his death occurred while on a special mission and was caused by bad weather conditions near the coast of England.

He and Mrs. Ferguson were married at West Point, Va., his home community, in December of 1942, and for a year Mrs. Ferguson made her home with him at his military stations. She returned to Marion to make her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Andrews of 837 South Prospect street, when her husband, at his own request, was assigned to Marion.

The results of the study led clearly to a decision to put the governing of the club in the hands of the Club Co-Ed members. The rooms will be open to all club members and club members themselves will set the standards of conduct, exercising, if necessary, the right to exclude anyone whose activities there become undesirable.

The Y's Men's Service club, has taken on the job of providing adult chaperones for the night activities at the club. Parents of members are expected to share in this.

The physical properties of the new center consist of a dance floor 37 by 64 feet, bordered by benches equipped with a large band stand 10 by 18 feet and also with a juke box type of record player which will operate for an hour at a time without attention.

The other room, 25½ by 47, has booths and tables for between 75 and 100 persons and has modern soda fountain equipment.

The dance floor has been sand-ed and completely refinished, and the dance room painted in cream,

GERMANS PUT UP HARD FIGHT AT SEVASTOPOL

Defenders Try To Block Union of Russian Marines with Main Fourth Army.

By The Associated Press

Allied defenders of Imphal have gone over to the offensive northwest of the besieged Indian state capital on the Burma border and are making "satisfactory progress."

Front-line dispatches to allied commanders said the Japanese are suffering heavy casualties trying to drive onto the plane sun-rounding the well-defended allied base 30 miles inside the Burma-India border.

Southeast Asia allied headquarters estimated the Japanese have lost at least 4,000 dead in the past six weeks of their Indian offensive and that artillery fire and air support probably accounted for many more killed.

From the fighting front around Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal, Associated Press War Correspondent Clyde A. Farnsworth predicted the enemy's Indian invasion will collapse because the Japanese failed to show

power in the air.

Aided Planes Rule Air

"Allied planes rule the entire Burma-India border fighting, he said, and at least as far as the Kohima front is concerned, it is hard to determine if the Japanese air force still exists."

Likewise, the Nipponese air strength was conspicuous in its absence when Solomon-based bombers blasted into impotence the strategic airstrip on Satavon Island in the Namol stool, about 150 miles southeast of the once-famous Truk fortress. Satavon's airfield was neutralized by a 34-ton bombing Sunday noon, and the force of four-engine Liberators encountered neither aerial opposition nor anti-aircraft fire.

forces from bombing Rome or any other area where religious buildings are located, should he try to use them to protect German troops, he is guessing wrong.

For if military necessity dictates the bombing of religious buildings, the vast majority of Americans are in agreement with General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said,

"If we have to choose between destroying a famous building and sacrificing our own men . . . the buildings must go."

Significantly, even Catholics approve such bombings of religious buildings as military leaders think necessary.

Allied leaders have, of course, emphasized that they will make every effort to preserve historic religious buildings in Europe.

In the present survey covering different religious denominations, besides all other important elements in the population, the Institute asked this question:

"If military leaders believe it will be necessary to bomb historic religious buildings and shrines in Europe, would you approve or disapprove of their bombing them?"

The results:

Approve .....	71%
Disapprove .....	19%
No Opinion .....	7%

London Hospital Hit by German Bomb

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 19.—Rescue workers dug through the wreckage of one of London's largest hospitals today in a search for casualties after the building had been blasted and set on fire by a direct hit during a German raid on the capital early this morning.

Nearly 2,000 patients were in the hospital and it was feared a number of them were buried under the debris. A ward housing male patients was completely destroyed.

The raid—the first on London in four nights and the third attack this month—started about 1 a. m.

and lasted for an hour.

Anti-aircraft batteries buried up a heavy barrage but it failed to turn the raiders, and various flares, incendiaries and high explosives rained down on the city. At least 13 enemy planes were reported shot down.

CAPT. BOLER HEADS ASSAULT AT ARAWA

Miss Helen Coile Enlists in WAVES

Son of Former Marion Couple Directs Landing Without Loss.

Mrs. Helen Lucille Coile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Coile of 406 West Columbia street, has joined the WAVES through the Navy Recruiting Station at 196 South Main street.

Capt. Thomas H. Boler, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Boler
of Toledo, formerly of Marion,
was named as commander of a flotilla of new-model Buffalo and the smaller Alligator tractors
when a description of the four-day operations of the Marine amphibians on New Britain was given recently to a Marine Corps correspondent.

The New Britain amphibious unit landed an Army assault team
at Arawa and on New Britain last Dec. 13, according to the report,
without the loss of a single man.
After landing the infantry, two of the Buffaloes formed a spearhead which secured the beachhead on Cape Merkus following a three-mile drive. Two 50-caliber machine guns mounted on the tractors helped the drive along.
Capt. Boler's crew had also been included with personnel during the Guadalcanal and Tulagi landings.
As a member of the first Marine division to land in Guadalcanal, Capt. Boler was awarded the presidential citation.

Capt. Boler's parents—his mother was formerly Miss Mary Huston—were married here in 1917 and later moved to Toledo where his father is now production manager
of the Champion Spark Plug Co. Living in Marion are his paternal grandmother, Mrs.

FORMER HEALTH WORKER' HERE WEDS IN IDAHO

Vivie Jane E. Gorsuch Bride of Frank R. DeBuse.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Jane E. Gorsuch, daughter of Mrs. May M. Gorsuch of Mt. Vernon, O., to Frank R. DeBuse Jr., son of Frank R. DeBuse of Hillsboro, Ore., at the home of Mrs. Lewis W. Ensign, 1409 Warm Springs avenue, Boise, Idaho, on Saturday, April 8 at 4 p.m. Rev. Marcus E. Lindley of the First Presbyterian church read the services before a fireplace banked with white snapdragons, forsythia, huckleberry and white tapers.

The program, an afternoon and evening affair, will be at Hotel Harding and as in former years will consist of exhibits, flower displays, music and talks by well known speakers. The tea, this year, promises to be colorful in a festive atmosphere, with members of the various clubs in costume as actual hostesses. Displays will center on old fans, old jewelry, shawls and ceramics.

Chairmen in charge of the display are particularly anxious to have articles brought or sent home by men and women of the armed forces, and are asking persons owning any of these articles to loan them for the exhibit.

Ribbons will be awarded in the flower displays which include four divisions, miniature dish gardens, small containers and arrangements and baskets, and the members are asked to enter at least two pictures from each club. Each club also is asked to enter a club scrap book. Tickets for the day are on sale by the members of the various clubs.

Reports of chairman and committees included a discussion of Secretary Hull's proposed post-war peace plan given by Mrs. George E. Frank.

The season will close with a joint meeting of the retiring and incoming officers and chairmen of the federation in May.

After an absence of almost six weeks because of illness, Mayor William Amann was present for the meeting of council.

First steps in the establishment of a playground in the East side of the city were taken when council passed a resolution to provide for Mayor Amann's appointment of a committee of four citizens to act as a committee in selecting a suitable site for the playground, and purchase playground equipment after purchase of the land has been made.

Letters in the Public Domain

THE misunderstanding between Gen. Mac-Arthur and his Nebraska congressman concerning the latter's use of the general's personal letter is more than that. Gen.
MacArthur and Rep. Miller have shown blind spots in their personal behavior patterns.

Gen. MacArthur, on his part, indiscretely went beyond the point of courtesy by including in his replies to Rep. Miller's letters certain opinions and statements not called for by the circumstances. He was writing to a man he did not know personally—writing to him, moreover,
as a highly placed military official to a member of congress. Under the circumstances, his apparent eagerness to agree with the congressman's viewpoint was questionable military behavior
at best and downright bad taste at worst.

Rep. Miller's conduct in making the letters public without permission is, of course, a flagrant violation of ordinary decency. Perhaps now that the whole affair has been aired early in a campaign year, some of the other letters which might be expected to backfire if made public never will be written in the first place—and that will be all to the good. Publication of letters not intended for publication is one of the oldest tricks in the book. When there is more to be gained than lost, all ethics to the contrary notwithstanding, all letters end up in the public domain.

There Isn't That Much Money

SEN. WILEY of Wisconsin is back of a bill to provide pay for members of local selective service boards. He has a curious reason—that "higher-ups are sitting on velvet cushions and drawing big pay, but the boys who get all the blame and damnation and criticism get nothing."

The senator probably has overlooked something. There isn't enough money even in the unbalanced budget to pay the kind of men who have been willing to work on draft boards for the job they are doing. A fair rate would be something like $500 a session, with a $500 bonus for every tough decision. Since anything less would be practically an insult, perhaps it's better the way it is. It's possible the draft board members are one of the few minorities who don't expect to get a thing out of the war but the toil and tears that go with it.

Another Name for It

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR ICKES, repairing
New Deal fences on the west coast, told the Commonwealth club of San Francisco last week that government-built war plants should be turned over to war veterans for ownership and operation in competition with existing private industries.

Questioned by newspapermen afterward for details on this remarkable proposal, he said it was in a "fluid" state, $5 verbiage for admitting it hasn't jelled, but is merely something he thought up and inserted in an address to see what would happen.

The technique of handling the "fluid" proposals of the New Deal Ickes has been developed the hard way, during 12 years of trial and error. It calls for pinning them down—challenging the proposers to explain how they will work. Practical planning is their short suit, theorizing their long one. There is nothing to be gained by arguing with them about theory, on which they aren't open to conviction. But when confronted by a challenge for facts and figures,
they fold up and do a fadeout.

Mr. Ickes and his friends who itch to put a blight on private enterprise with a threat to subsidize competition in the guise of a generous act to veterans must furnish the details which they don't have and can't get before their latest vote bait can be taken seriously.

Telling the People

THE problem of public information in wartime cannot be solved completely. OWI Director Davis has won his fight to help control army-navy decisions on releasing news, but that does not mean he has won his fight to make the handling of all war information above reproach. There can still be such mixups as the Cairo and Teheran conferences, which occur outside Army-Navy jurisdiction.

The press, naturally, is pulling for Mr. Davis whenever he jumps into the fight to eliminate suppression war information which does not affect military security. Since it is the press which serves as the main medium for distribution of news, its relationship with its readers is affected: anything which creates doubt of the reliability of newspapers is not only a public problem, but a problem in the operation of newspapers.

In ordinary circumstances, the press aims to present all news as rapidly as it can be developed and distributed. In wartime, development and distribution of news about military matters necessarily is restricted for security reasons. The problem is to confine the restriction entirely to legitimate security reasons.
All other news, of course, is handled as usual.
The fight in which Mr. Davis has won another skirmish is over his right, as director of war information, to help the Army and Navy decide how news should be handled—to take a hand in determination of policy. There will be many more skirmishes, but if Mr. Davis continues to win his share there will be no complaints.

News Behind the News

Variety of Explanations Offered for Confusion
About Draft Policies.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 19.—What is behind this fantastic draft foolishness is being explained by all the interested government bureaus in their own conflicting ways.

You can get nearly any story
you want, that is, any except the right one.

Supports McNutt

The plain evidence indicates clearly McNutt is right. The Cleveland economist, Col. Leonard Ayres, who set up the war department economic bureau at the outset of the war, says in his current Cleveland Trust company
bulletin:

"This latest manpower crisis is largely verbal, and it almost surely less serious than it is claimed to be."

He says the peak of our war production probably was passed last October, and industrial manpower requirements have declined since then. He is such an impartial recognized authority that his evidence seems almost to close the argument.

Nevertheless, you still have Mc-Nutt and the armed services issuing conflicting or contrary directives to the bewildered General Hershey. The only way the confusion will ever be cleared for certain is to put one man fully in control, although it might help if the armed services lost interest in the labor draft act.

4-F Draft Unlikely

At the moment, there seems no likelihood that either of these hopes can be accomplished. As a revealing sidelight on the inner unsettlement, congress recently started stampeding toward the idea of drafting the 4-F's into labor battalions or putting them to work in industry.

The Army seemed to side in with the notion as a substitute for its labor draft act. But the house military affairs committee hearings have discouraged action.

It became clear the 4-F's would rather go into the Army than into labor battalions and also the complexities offered by their various physical defects cast some doubt upon the effectiveness of such a move. The theory of drafting physically defective for labor furthermore gathered some repugnance.

The Army thus is falling back on the labor draft act.

Above all, there seems to be a total lack of excitement about the whole manpower matter on every hand, except that of the Army and Navy.

British RAF raids Italian naval base at Spezia.

Sweden reports a German merchantman opened fire on a Swedish submarine in Swedish territory waters near spot where a sister submarine had been sunk,
status unknown; Swedish government protests to Berlin.

More Army Nurses Needed

Call Issued for Service at Home and Abroad.

THIS war department announced today that many more nurses
are needed for service in Army hospitals in this country and thereafter, the same period of service required of officers and enlisted men of the Army. Advancement is based on both professional and administrative ability.

At present most of the 36,625
women serving in the Nurse Corps of the Army medical department are stationed overseas, at all posts where American troops are on duty. The demand for them abroad has in turn created a shortage of nurses in general and station hospitals in this country, particularly since many wounded have been returned to the United States for further treatment as soon as they were able to be evacuated from war theaters.

After acceptance, a nurse is sent to one of the Nurses' Training Centers which have been established in each of the nine Service Commands.

At the Center she completes a four weeks' "basic" military training course followed by assignment to duty either in a hospital unit in this country or overseas.

At the training center her life
resembles that of the soldier trained although it necessarily is somewhat less rigorous. The courses taught military courtesy, the need for safeguarding military information, military administrative procedures, map reading, water purification and the care and causes of tropical diseases. They also have close order drill, hikes in field equipment, practical courses in defense against mechanized, air and chemical attack and calisthenics. They may volunteer for the obstacle and infiltration firing courses, but are not required to undertake them.

The training centers are located at: Fort Devens, Mass.; England
General Hospital, Atlantic City, N.
J.; Ft. Meade, Md.; Camp Rucker,
Ala.; Billings General Hospital,
Indianapolis, Ind.; Camp McCoy,
Wis.; Camp Carson, Colo.; Brooks
General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston,
Tex., and Camp White, Ore.

APPLICATIONS should be submitted to the Office of the Surgeon
General, Washington, D.C., or to the nearest Red Cross Procurement Office.

An Army nurse is appointed a second lieutenant and becomes a member of the armed forces for the duration and six months from the time of her appointment.

"I'll be sorry to leave Washington," declared Mrs. Rogers, perhaps thinking about returning to California. "I like the climate here."

Aside from being perhaps the first time a Californian ever said
a good word about the climate somewhere else, it is one of the few times on record that anyone ever said anything good about the climate of Washington.

Rep. Rogers, it is reported, is resigning his seat in congress because he believes he can be more useful as a lieutenant in the army.
When he quit the army to accept his seat in the house, he did so because he thought then he could do more good there. He was a victim of the house tradition that new members should be seen, not heard—an unwilling and resentful victim.

are no longer plagued, they say,
by so many vicious, biting dogs.
Perhaps all the belligerent dogs, it has been suggested, have gone off
to war.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Put. Purkey on Letters of
Gen. MacArthur

"WELL," we asked Private Oscar Purkey, "what do you think about those letters between General MacArthur and Congress?"

"I don't think the general's letter means much as a iota does," he said. "MacArthur is in his right mind, isn't he?"

"Certainly," we agreed.

"Then that settles it," snapped Oscar. "ough as this war is, no soldier is so crazy he would get out of it in order to take a tough job like trying to run America to everyone's satisfaction."

"It seemed to me," we said, "that the general replies to the congressman put his helmet on the ring."

"I can't see it," said the private. "The congressman wrote two letters so long they were interrupted the war in the Pacific if any soldier stopped to read 'em through. I bet the general who is a polite man but very busy now, knocked off them short replies without meaning to do nuthin' except maybe to endorse Nebrask fishing and hunting."

"Oh yeah," we said. "The Nebraska congressman blasted the New Deal all over the place. Blazed the President, and said America was sunk if the general wouldn't come to the rescue. And the general called it a scholarly letter patriots."

"I admit the general okayed a letter to blast the New Deal and Mr. Roosevelt, but they was a couple of coral islands," said Purkey, "but that is just because he is a real fighter and likes fighting talk."

"And General MacArthur also said he reservedly agreed with the complete wisdom of the Congressman's summary of the picture Washington," we observed.

"It means nothing," insisted Oscar. "Out in the Pacific the fighting men is concerned with jumping in coconut trees. When they see U.S. Congressmen up in them they get a little dizzy."

"How about the general's endorsement of that second letter saying four more years of the New Deal will destroy the rights of the common man?" we asked.

"I still think General MacArthur was trying to be nice to a congressman," replied Purkey. "Maybe he had a idea that he didn't answer the letter and agree with the congressman might come out to New Guinea. And if there is anything that slows up a base at the front it is congressmen asking questions in person."

"Don't you think MacArthur would make a good President?"

"I wouldn't wish it on a top sergeant, alone a general," said Oscar, "even if he would make a good president. All I know is that MacArthur would make it hot in them countries."

"How so?" we asked.

"A guy who is so used to shooting down Zeros would be at home against a lotta them feller sons," said Oscar.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I was out fooling around with nature this afternoon. The more I see of that old girl the more attached I get to her. She is an old duffer's best bet, because she does demand a thing but loving kindness which endure forever.

I get a buzz out of the way you town slickers suddenly have discovered this—you and I.

Victory Gardens. Some of you talk as though you had to wait for a war to learn what you eat comes from the ground, instead of from the super-market. You're as bad as the city kids who think milk comes out of bottles because they never see a cow.

It's too soon to begin paying serious attention to gardening, of course, but what I was doing today was laying it out in my mind's eye and getting the feel of things, you might say. In some ways this is the best part of gardening.

Other parts of the Missouri will be shielded by a recently developed light armor especially designed to give protection against strafing attacks by enemy planes.

I noticed especially how the grass was coming up. Sometime I'd like to go up in an airplane this time of year and see how greenery begins to come alive as the sun warms up the earth.

Except for the temporary damage we have to do out how to do in our greediness, the grass always covers up the scars.

The lilac buds are full. The Easter flowers are starting up. Weeks ago I cut off purple willows for your aunt to bring into the house. The peonies are coming through. I suppose forsythia is barreling along, but for some reason we never accumulated a forsythia. I must to that sometime.

My winter onions are coming along in great shape. I dug a mess of parsnips, and they were as sweet as sugar. The chives will be ready pretty soon. We will have fresh rhubarb pie of these days.

Your aunt walked out and we planned what we would put flowers this year, just as we been planning where to put them every year since we were married. We always end up in a fight and I always let her win because it makes her feel good. It doesn't make any difference to me.

Sometimes I wish I had stuck at farming. My

WFA Denies Bread Rationing Probable

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 19—Confidence that the United States will be able to avoid rationing of bread, flour and other wheat food products was expressed by war food administration officials today as new reports from the winter wheat belt told of further improvements in 1944 crop prospects.

Government grain experts now are expecting a wheat crop of more than 800,000,000 bushels, supplementing the crop will be a reserve of around 300,000,000 bushels left over from previous years.

The WFA has said that a crop of 750,000,000 bushels would provide enough of the grain for domestic food and seed requirements, normal livestock feeding and moderate exports.

Allied patrols and artillery were active along the entire Italian front, a communiqué said, with artillery destroying an ammunition dump.

The bulletin declared bad weather and poor visibility curtailed all major air operations yesterday, but allied fighter-bombers and fighters flew nearly 1,000 sorties, striking at German planes aground in northern Italy and hitting at Nazi communications as well as patrolling the battlefield.

Nine enemy planes were destroyed in combat. Eight allied craft failed to return.

Pitching Better Than Hitting, Box Scores of Openers Show

By The Associated Press

Northern spring training got a "yes" vote from the pitching profession as the hurlers looked over yesterday's opening day major league box scores and settled down to enjoy a happy state of affairs that finds them far ahead of the hitters.

While the sluggers played basketball in high school gyms or swung away at soft stuff in cages under artificial lights, the throwers unlimbered their hairy whips with such regularity that no fewer than three were able to pitch shutouts in yesterday's inaugurations. Four runs was high for a winning team and of the 83 hits allowed 69 were singles.

It was a typical wartime opening with pitching predominating, but the crowds were encouraging except at St. Louis where a slight drop was experienced. With seven of the eight scheduled games played, the turnstile total for paid attendance was 121,336, considerably higher than last year when four of the games were washed out but below the peace time norm of 200,000.

No Poor Pitching

There wasn't a bad pitching job in the lot but the work of Mac Lanier for the Cardinals was the standout. The veteran lefthander got the Red Birds off on the right foot with a two-hit whitewashing of Pittsburgh while his mates had to scramble for a 2-0 win over rookie Preacher Roe. Lanier allowed a single to Roe in the third and ditto to Guscine in the next frame. Only 4,030 came out to see the National league champs in their home bow.

Ducky Walters, meanwhile, put in an early claim for hard luck honors when he gave three hits but was beaten by Hank Wyse of Chicago, 3-0. The Reds, inspired by the largest turnout in either league, 30,154, got five hits. Rookie Don Johnson, Bill Nicholson and Phil Cavaretta ruined the day for Walters with hits that counted. Nicholson driving in two of the runs.

Mel Ott's gamble on Bill Volzelle, who lost 21 last year for Jersey City, turned out to be a happy choice as the youngster from South Carolina became the first rookie ever to win a Giant opener by besting Boston 2-1 before 13,470. Hugh Luby, a newcomer from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, won himself a job with a double that scored the two innies.

30,000 Expected To Watch Association Open Season Today

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 19—Some 30,000 baseball fans are expected in the stands today at the American Association opens its 1944 pennant race.

Three of the opening games will be played at night as the teams pair off at Kansas City, Milwaukee, Louisville and St. Paul.

League officials expressed belief there would be no serious drop in attendance this year. Association clubs played to 1,107,889 cash customers last season.

All eight clubs will try off the lid with unseasoned teams. Rainy weather plus snow and near-freezing temperatures hampered the northern training program.

There is a shortage of veterans. Milwaukee, last year's pennant winner, is shy catchers and in field help; Columbus needs pitchers; Minneapolis has been looking vainly for infielders; Kansas City is looking for both ends of the bat—pitchers and catchers; Toledo wants catchers; Indianapolis is in hunt of a second baseman; Louisville has quantities of hopefuls, but seems to lack quality; and St. Paul wants outfielders and pitchers.

In the only day game, Milwaukee will be host to St. Paul,

PRO GRIDDERS STUDY CHANGES IN RULES

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 19—Having disposed of the problems involved in 43 suggestions for changing the rules of professional football, the national football league today faced the problem of eleven clubs and what to do with them.

The rules committee, meeting in a preliminary session to today's opening of the three-day league meeting, sifted out a half dozen or so rules proposals and passed them along for league action.

The question of how many clubs will operate next fall probably will be brought up as early as possible in the regular meetings.

Out of yesterday's rules committee meeting came two proposals for major changes in the rules and a half dozen minor alterations and clarifications.

Under these, coaches on the bench will be permitted to communicate with players on the field, provided they don't range more than ten yards on either side of the middle of the bench, and five-yard penalties are provided for out-of-bounds kickoffs, continuing on each kick until one is legally handled by the receiving team.

The other changes were concerned mainly with saving time and eliminating the possibility of unequal penalties.

INDIANS AND SOX TRY AGAIN TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 19—Cleveland's Indians make another attempt to open their 1944 American league campaign against the Chicago White Sox today. Rain forced postponement of yesterday's scheduled opener.

The postponement caused a change in Manager Lou Boudreau's pitching plans. He announced Allie Reynolds, last year's league strikeout king, would hurl the home opener against the Detroit Tigers at Cleveland stadium Friday.

Reynolds returned from a flying trip to Cleveland where he arranged to have his pre-induction physical examination transferred from Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Outfielder Jeff Heath, who agreed to terms Monday, said he is ready to take his place in the lineup, but the Tribe pilot said Heath would have to show him before he would remove one of the three men who won the right to start by hard work in spring training.

Twice as much steel has been allotted to production of small tools in 1944 as in 1943.

BIRDS OF SOUTHERN STATES PICTURED

Lecture Sponsored

by Nature Club.

The southland, particularly Florida and Louisiana, drawn by Alexander Sprunt, Central school, Mr. Sprunt, representative of the National Audubon society, too, has seen a journey through series of the south and made motion pictures representing wild life on a tour unversed by the nature lover. Mr. Sprunt's visit here was the Burroughs Nature club, and was free to the public. A large audience joined the club members for the talk and pictures.

The speaker prefaced the showing of the pictures with a talk in which he emphasized the importance of birds to the agricultural life of the country and the vital necessity of their protection. Without American wildlife agriculture in this country would not be possible. Mr. Sprunt said, and proved his statement by pointing out the part birds play in the destruction of harmful insects. He urged those of the audience to take an active interest in bird protection which up to now the Y's Men's Service club has designated as "life insurance."

Thirty-five species of birds were present at the three-night formal opening.

Work Done by Club.

Most of the work on the new house was done by members of the Y's Men's club. Under the direction of William K. Luse, the club's chairman for the project, the members have spent many hours painting and refinishing the floors and doing the other work necessary to get the quarters in shape. Almost every night for the last several weeks has found members on hand in working togs.

Members of the committee headed by Mr. Luse are Kenneth Staats and William Isaly, the latter having taken the place on the committee formerly held by Kenneth Barrymore, Julia Barlowe, and other famous actors and actresses, opened his program with an original sketch called "I Am An American." Following the sketch, he told of his many experiences as a "strolling player," and brought his audience close to the theater which he loves so well.

Selections from Shakespeare were well received and the appreciative audience furnished the actor with many requests for favorite passages. His long association with plays and players gave his listeners a clear portrayal of comedy. Interspersed with the more serious side of the theater.

An announcement was made of the final meeting of the year on May 9. This meeting will be a picnic for members at the home of Mrs. Fillmore Young of Mt. Vernon avenue.

The club raised about $3,000 for equipment and materials needed for the quarters, and has used some money from its own treasury to get the job done. Club projects which help raise money for this and other club activities included the Golden Gloves tournament and the operation of concessions at the fairground last summer when movie scenes were filmed there.

UNION IS DENIED PLACE ON BOARD

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK April 19—Stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. turned thumbs down on attempts of a group of employee-stockholders to gain a place on the board of directors through one of the telephone labor organizations, and rejected the present board sponsored by the management.

Of 18,870,000 shares outstanding, approximately 11,250,000 were represented at the meeting in person or by proxy. The management slate of directors received votes representing 11,236,781 shares while Charles H. Patterson, a plant worker for the New York Telephone Co., and Miss Elizabeth Walsh, nominee of the group representing the United Telephone organizations, each received votes representing 13,177 shares.

It was the first time in the long history of the country's largest corporate enterprise that a labor group, owning stock in the corporation, had attempted to participate directly in the affairs of management.

Henry Mayer, attorney for the labor group, and Parsons claimed the move "a new adventure in labor-management relationships" and said they regarded it as logical in view of the large number of telephone workers owning stock in the company. Both indicated further efforts would be made to accomplish their program.

The meeting today was attended by between 400 and 500 stockholders.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"NO, KATIE," I reassured my ailing farm helper. "Madam Grant is perfectly all right. She simply is too absorbed in trying to help the war effort to pay attention to the things which used to annoy her. I trust you and I can do as well!" "Maybe so, maybe no," Katie said dubiously, manifestly ignoring my hit. "But me, I wanna close, see if the don't fall down some day and not get up by herself any more."

I wanted to shake my domestic creature, but contented myself with a pouting warning.

"Don't think about that any more. I injured her. Put your mind on your dinner!"

Whetly Oiled

Me, I never, never forget dinner. She retorted with a great deal of truth, and I went out of the kitchen and into the study with the feeling that so far, I had rolled the wheels of my domestic machine so as to avoid possible trouble.

The boys were so absorbed in excited talk that they did not see me come in at first. When I came within their vision, they sprang to their feet, and while Roderick pushed forward a chair, John gravely put me into it.

"You said you had a secret to tell us," my son said, palpably trying to button his excitement into a tightly fitting coat.

"Yes, I have," I answered. But I cannot tell you a great deal about it, because I do not know everything myself. But I'll tell you the most important thing first. Major Hugh Grantland and his Chinese friend, Lee Chow, are now in the secret underground chamber, and we must keep everybody who does not already know the secret from finding them."

John's eyes snapped as if they were Christmas "sparklers," and he leaned forward excitedly.

Excited

"Uncle Hugh and Uncle Lee!" he exclaimed, giving them the names by which the boys had addressed the two men when they were last at the farm. "Gee, that's great! You remember them, don't you, Rod?"

"You bet," Roderick said with the incertitude which sometimes makes him hard to approach.

"Look here, Mum!" Junior stuck in, and I knew that he was throwing himself with excited glee into the melodramatic situation. "How many folks do know the secret of that underground room?"

"Out here, every member of this family except Faith," I replied, then, also, Jim, Katie and the four Tlers. Charlie Kent does not know it, but he may have to be told about it. Then, away from here, Daddy, Granddad, Uncle Harry, Aunt Lillian, Roderick's sister, Mary, his brothers, Hank and Bill, the four Veritrons, Aunt Katharine, and I suppose, her husband, and, also, Miss Fairfax. Those were the ones who were here when Jackie Leslie came through the passage and was killed, and they are the only ones who know that the secret passage is still there, and that the little apartment has been dug out from it and made into a stone-lined room.

Avis Arien Knew

"What about that woman, Avis Arien?" Junior demanded. "She knew about it. She let all that gang in through the chimney door."

"Yes, she did," I said, "but she was told that the whole passage was blocked up and the entrance destroyed. And, as you know, all the farthest end of the passage was filled up and a steel wall erected under the camouflage of that maple grove. No one not familiar with the new passage could ever find it."

"What about those workmen that Granddad brought out here to do that work?" He put this question as if the weight of the entire world was crushing his shoulders, and I kept back a smile as I said quietly,

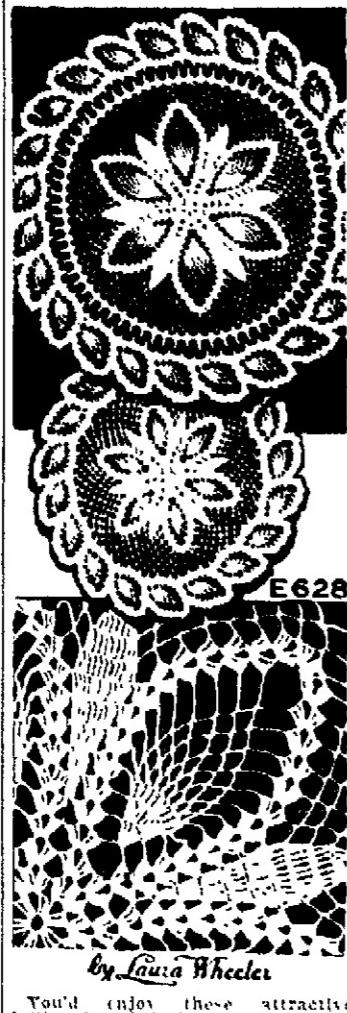

"I am sure your grandfather made very sure that they were absolutely trustworthy before he turned the work over to them." I said, "Don't worry a bit about that end of it!"
